

CHAMCOOK MOUNTAIN (St. Andrews)

Distance: 3 km return

Difficulty: Easy hike up an old cart track to the summit.

The trail is an old wagon road that ascends gently through beautiful hardwoods to the summit. This walk is nice in any season, but is extra scenic once the leaves change color in the fall.

GETTING THERE:

From the Saint Andrews Tim Hortons, drive 4.4 km on highway 127 towards Chamcook, then turn left at civic address 4599. (Rossmount Inn)

Drive up the long driveway, and park in the paved parking area to the left of the Rossmount Inn.

Go to the check-in counter inside the inn, and let them know you plan to hike up the mountain.

The lobby of the Rossmount Inn is a treat in itself...like stepping back into the 1920's!

THE TRAIL:

Follow the trail past the pool, garden and old carriage house. You can really feel the history here.

The hike takes about 25 minutes to the top.

There are signs to read as you go along, explaining some of the history of this place.

Take time to check out the old rock walls that support the trail.

Part way up, there is an excellent vantage point looking out over bay.

At the top there are good views of Passamaquoddy Bay, as well as the names of past hikers carved into the rock.
