

SUSSEX BLUFF (Sussex)

Distance: 7.3 km return

Difficulty: Moderate due to some steep areas and the crumbling cliff tops.

Caution:

The trail runs close to a rounded crumbling cliff edge in several places. Keep well back from edge.

Getting There:

From the Tim Horton's at 638 Main Street in Sussex, turn left onto Main and drive 2.4 km to a Y-Junction.

Turn left onto route 111 (Post Road), drive 1 km and turn right onto Rockridge Drive.

Drive 1 km to a small parking lot near a water tower.

The trail begins at the far right corner of the fence.

The Trail:

The trail passes through 1.4 km of forest before reaching an open area on the bluff.

The trail continues along the open bluff for another .7 km before entering the woods again.

This open area is a fine place to have a snack and look out over Dutch Valley.

After another 200 meters, the trail reaches a gravel road.

Walk up this road for 100 meters and turn right onto a trail as it enters the woods.

The trail here is sparsely marked in places but traverses 1.25 km of woods before reaching the open bluff again.

After reaching this open area, it is recommended that you return to the water tower.
